I have published a paper in August 2022 issue. How can I get the print edition of that issue

reply

M M.S. Abd-Elhady 7 months ago

Dear Sir,

Unfortunately, this is a fake journal where it just it takes money and publish the article on their own website. There is no editorial board and the publication is not indexed in SCOPUS.

Also, Their is no data base for the journal.

So, if some one would like to download your published article he will not find it any where.

It was a big mistake submitting an article to such a fake journal.

Dear Monika,

This is Bruce, I have the similar concern with you before, after email and confirm with the right Design and engineering publisher, I want to let you know:
<http://www.thedesignengineering.com/index.php/DE> this is an fake journal, that means some guys copied the real journal ISSN information and publish many scholars papers in their fake journal website, and this is why many papers in 2020 and 2021 can not be found in SCOPUS.

The real and right publisher website is: <https://www.design-engineering.com/digital-archives/september-2021/>

Finally the editor Ravi Ranjan Thakur refused to provide any solution. This journal has a fraudulent operation. It receives money from APC without publishing or it transfers to other journals pretending to be scopus journals. I recommend you not to put any trust either in the journal or in Ravi Ranjan Thakur's editorial work.

Dear Mekete,

Thank you very much for your comment.

We suggest you consult the Scopus database directly to see the current index status as SJR is a static image of Scopus, which is changing every day.

S Sujatha 1 year ago

Dear Sir,

I published my article in the April '22 Vol no 7. In the month of June, Scopus released a discontinued journal list from April 2022. Is my paper under Scopus coverage? If so, when will it get indexed.

reply

Melanie Ortiz 1 year ago

SCImago Team

Dear Sujatha,

Thank you for contacting us. A paper will be considered as Scopus indexed as long as it has been published in the same period in which Scopus has indexed the journal. For example, if the coverage in Scopus is 2014-2016, the papers published in 2017 will not be indexed as the Journal is not indexed in Scopus anymore. For this reason, we always recommend to consult the Scopus database directly to see the current status of a journal.

Dear Neda,

Thank you for contacting us. Our data come from Scopus, they annually send us an update of the data. This update is sent to us around April / May every year. The SJR for 2021 was released on 11 May 2022. Therefore, the indicators for 2022 will be available in May/June 2023 as SCImago updates its data only once a year.

This is a Predator journal. I have sent them the paper through a publishing house. The paper was accepted and published on their website but the problem is that they don't assign and index the article in Scopus database, you won't be getting any doi. The article will only rest on journal website where it's discoverability is impossible. And I think they only assign doi if you pay more and if your article is under mechanical engineering field.

Hello admin, I want to ask if the journal discontinuity is determined in May/June or when? what is the date for updating SJR 2021? discontinuous determination coincides with the SJR update?

reply

Melanie Ortiz 1 year ago

SCImago Team

Dear Sir/Madam,

Thank you for contacting us.

Our data come from Scopus, they annually send us an update of their data in April / May every year. After that, SCImago calculates the scientometric indicators based on these data and updates its ranking in May/June. Keep in mind that the SJR is a static image (the update is made one time per year) of a database (Scopus) which is changing every day. For this reason, we always recommend to consult the Scopus database directly to see the current status of a journal.

SCImago doesn't participate in the Scopus journal's selection and don't determine its discontinuity.

Ulul A 5 months ago

Hi, May I get updated information about the Journal of Jilin University (Engineering and Technology Edition) Quartile rank in 2023?

Thanks

reply

Ahmad 3 months ago

The journal "Jilin Daxue Xuebao (Gongxueban)/Journal of Jilin University (Engineering and Technology Edition)" with website <https://jilindaxuexuebao.com> is a hijacked version of Journal of Jilin University (Engineering and Technology Edition).

The legit homepage is most likely <http://xuebao.jlu.edu.cn/gxb/EN/1671-5497/home.shtml> (which as you can see is exclusively for Chinese authors and written in Chinese language, see enclosed file for an example).

This journal is a known and identified example for being a victim of hijacking as can be found here <https://retractionwatch.com/the-retraction-watch-hijacked-journal-checker/> See also the comments at the corresponding SCImago link where victims of this fraud describe their experiences.

So, be warned to stay away from this one.

Best regards.

PS. Even if one is not aware of the hijacking there are numerous red flags when it comes to the fake version:

-The fake website is a poor and vaguely constructed one
-Basically, all info (contact info etc.) is missing
-The journal is mentioned on the ores site <https://ores.su/en/journals/jilin-daxue-xuebao-gongxuebanjournal-of-jilin-university-engineering-and-technology-edition/> Over the last few years I've seen numerous example of journals with issues (hijacked, fake peer review, exploiting Scopus indexing for as long as possible, already discontinued from Scopus etc.) that are 'listed' on this site (and where they offer to help you to get published in those journals)

If you want more examples of how these hijackers can be recognised see:

Dear Ulul,

Thank you for contacting us. Our data come from Scopus, they annually send us an update of the data. This update is sent to us around April / May every year. The SJR for 2021 was released on 11 May 2022. Therefore, the indicators for 2022 will be available in May/June 2023 and before that date we can't know what will happen with this journal.

Dear!
Recently, certain individuals, through facebook are abusing the sincerity of those who want to publish articles. Such is the person who has personally promised me that he will publish my article in the indexed magazine in Scopus. In fact, the magazine says it's on Scopus, but neither my name nor my article is on Scopus. In the research done on November 4, 2021, my name does not appear as the author of the article.

There are people who, by lying to us, harm others.

Please see the name of this person as well as the magazine that lies that the articles or names of the authors have been placed on Scopus.

SCOPE

Materials Today is proud to introduce Materials Today: Proceedings. A new journal specializing in the publication of conference proceedings. Materials Today: Proceedings provides the materials science community with a fast and flexible route to the publication of research presented at leading scientific conferences spanning the field of materials science, technology and engineering. Conference proceedings are only accepted for publication in Materials Today: Proceedings after a full assessment from the Materials Today editorial team. All papers must be original, and peer-review is mandatory.

Dear sir/madam

I will be grateful if you can inform us about who is responsible for the quartile scores for journals (i.e: Q1, Q2, Q3, or Q4 calculation)? is it SJR or Scopus?

best regards

reply

Melanie Ortiz 3 years ago

SCImago Team

Dear Mahmood,

Thank you for contacting us.

As you probably already know, our data come from Scopus, they annually send us an update of the data. This update is sent to us around April / May every year.

The calculation of the indicators is performed with the copy of the Scopus database provided to us annually. However, the methodology used by Scopus is different from the one used by SCImago, even if, since the past year, the scientometrics indicators' calculation procedure changed in order to resemble SciVal.

In the case of SCImago, for every journal, the annual value of the SJR is integrated into the distribution of SJR values of all the thematic categories to which the journal belongs.

There are more than 300 thematic categories. The position of each journal is different in any category and depends on the performance of the category, in general, and the journal, in particular .

I had published a paper on your article The issue is to be published on July 23rd, 2022 with DOI:10.17605/OSF.IO/F935H.

So we would like to know which of the database journals your article is linked to (Scopus, Elsevier,...etc.).

As per the attached link, it shows that your Journal is no longer covered since 2021 , so we would kindly like to know if you have updated the cover for this year's 2022 ?

Moreover, I have more papers to publish by next month. We want to get confirmation from your side that your article is reapable by updating the coverage by this year.

I'm waiting for your feedback.

Melanie Ortiz 8 months ago

SCImago Team

Dear Arburim,
SCImago Team is constantly working hard to provide high quality scientometric indicators in an Open Access tool, as well as several information about the journals. Concerning some questions, like the journal's current index status, it is necessary to consider the fact that SCImago updates its platform only once a year, while Scopus does it several times throughout the year. For this reason, we always suggest our users consult the Scopus database directly as the index status may have changed since the last update.

Dear Scimago team, Dear researchers,

It's been more than a year that researchers have been asking scimago for information on the official journal website and you have been responding in the same way without making an effort to protect researchers from predatory journals.

Just do a search to find the journal's website and avoid another clone website that takes advantage of this lack of information from you to make a fortune.

Sincerely
Khalid

reply

Melanie Ortiz 2 years ago

SCImago Team

Dear Khalid,

Thank you for contacting us.

As you probably know, SJR is a portal with scientometric indicators of journals indexed in Scopus. SCImago doesn't participate in the journal's selection and has no authority to include or exclude SJR journals.

SCImago is constantly working hard to provide information about the journals, including the journals website information. Unfortunately, this task becomes more and more complex as the proliferation of predatory journals and / or fraudulent websites has been constant for a few years.

SCImago always shows the metadata sent by Scopus and the most reliable information related to the website, by checking several information using Beall's list, Cabells and others.

If our website is showing "Information not localized" in the sections referred to the journal's website, it means that SCImago could not verify that information with absolute reliability; that the journal is only available in Print version; or that the website remains simply unfound.

Besides, keep in mind that the main purpose of SCImago is to help decision-making through scientometric indicators.

There is a clone of this journal; making money only because original journal is not accessible online.

Clone Site: <https://www.xisdjxsu.asia/>

Original Site from Scopus Site: <http://xasyxyxb.periodicals.net.cn/> (Not available online anymore)

If anyone knows the Editors of the original Journal the clone needs to be reported.
